46. Which of the following activities is carried out during implementation of a marketing plan?

- a. Defining the business mission
- b. Gathering information about customers
- c. Setting up strategic business units
- d. Creating and managing a task force

ANSWER: d

RATIONALE: Implementation requires delegating authority and responsibility, determining a time frame for completing tasks, and allocating resources. Sometimes a strategic plan also requires task force management. A task force is a tightly organized unit under the direction of a manager who, usually, has broad authority. 65. Synergy Corp. is large seller of energy-efficient bulbs that uses extensive promotional strategies to stimulate sales. Synergy has noticed that a competitor is doing well and is steadily gaining a large market share. The marketers at Synergy want to counter the competitor immediately by increasing the sales of its bulbs. What quick step can Synergy take to stimulate the sales of its products?

- a. Change the pricing strategy
- b. Adopt new production techniques
- c. Enter into new supplier contracts
- d. Adopt a divesting strategy

ANSWER: a

Chapter 2

RATIONALE: Synergy Corp. can vary its pricing strategy to immediately stimulate its sales. Price is an important competitive weapon, and is very important to the organization because price multiplied by the number of units sold equals total revenue for the firm. See 2-9: The Marketing Mix

80. Which of the following is true of a product/service differentiation competitive advantage?
- a. It tends to be more attractive to top managers because of its durability.
 - b. It provides a shorter-lasting competitive advantage compared to cost competitive advantages.
 - c. It focuses primarily on offering a low priced product or service than that of the competitor.
 - d. It is subject to continual erosion, as opposed to cost competitive advantages.

ANSWER: a

RATIONALE: The durability of a product/service differentiation competitive strategy tends to make it more attractive to many top managers. This strategy exists when a firm provides something that is unique and valuable to buyers beyond simply offering a lower price than that of the competition. See 2-6: Competitive Advantage

82. Delta Corp. is a large corporation that offers several product lines. On the company's Web site, the following content is highlighted: "The aim of our business is to achieve profitability by offering our customers high quality products that are manufactured in a cost effective manner. Our goals are to provide value to our customers, serve the community, and preserve the environment." This content is most likely to be Delta's:

- a. article of incorporation
- b. financial statement
- c. bona fide occupational qualification
- d. mission statement

ANSWER: d

RATIONALE: Delta Corp. has highlighted its mission statement on its company Web site. The foundation of any marketing plan is the firm's mission statement, which answers the question "What business are we in?" The way a firm defines its business mission profoundly affects the firm's long-run resource allocation, profitability, and survival. See 2-4: Defining the Business Mission

104. Discuss how strategic planning can be made effective.

ANSWER: Effective strategic planning requires continual attention, creativity, and management commitment. Strategic planning should not be an annual exercise in which, managers go through the motions and forget about strategic planning until the next year. It should be an ongoing process because the environment is continually changing and the firm's resources and capabilities are continually evolving. Sound strategic planning is based on creativity. Managers should challenge assumptions about the firm and the environment and establish new strategies.

106. Discuss the process of market opportunity analysis.

ANSWER: The target market strategy identifies the market segment or segments on which a firm should focus. This process begins with a market opportunity analysis (MOA)—the description and estimation of the size and sales potential of market segments that are of interest to the firm, and the assessment of key competitors in these market segments. After the firm describes the market segments, it may target one or more of them.

107. Discuss the factors that make marketing objectives effective.

ANSWER: A marketing objective is a statement of what is to be accomplished through marketing activities. To be useful, stated objectives should be: Realistic: Managers should develop objectives that have a chance of being met. For example, it may be unrealistic for start-up firms or new products to command dominant market share, given other competitors in the marketplace. Measurable: Managers need to be able to quantitatively measure whether or not an objective has been met. For example, it would be difficult to determine success for an objective that states, "To increase sales of cat food." If the company sells one percent more cat food, does that mean the objective was met? Instead, a specific number should be stated, "To increase sales of Purina brand cat food from $300 million to $345 million." Time specific: By what time should the objective be met? "To increase sales of Purina brand cat food between January 1, 2014, and December 31, 2014." Compared to a benchmark: If the objective is to increase sales by 15 percent, it is important to know the baseline against which the objective will be measured. Will it be current sales? Last year's sales? For example, "To increase sales of Purina brand cat food by 15 percent over 2012 sales of $300 million."

109. Discuss the general strategies for selecting target markets.

ANSWER: Target markets can be selected by appealing to the entire market with one marketing mix, concentrating on one segment, or appealing to multiple market segments using multiple marketing mixes. Target markets could be eighteen- to twenty-five-year-old females who are interested in fashion (Vogue magazine), people concerned about sugar and calories in their soft drinks (Diet Pepsi), or parents who do not have time to potty train their children (Booty Camp classes where kids are potty trained). Any market segment that is targeted must be fully described. Demographics, psychographics, and buyer behavior should be assessed.

110. Discuss promotion strategies in the context of a marketing mix.

ANSWER: Promotion includes advertising, public relations, sales promotion, and personal selling. Promotion's role in the marketing mix is to bring about mutually satisfying exchanges with target markets by informing, educating, persuading, and reminding them of the benefits of an organization or a product. A good promotion strategy, like using a beloved cartoon character such as Sponge-Bob Square Pants to sell gummy snacks, can dramatically increase sales.
